During the Summer holidays we had a great time learning about penguins at Granite Island Recreation Park. At the Penguin Information Centre, we watched the penguins being fed and learnt how the Centre looks after many injured penguins and releases them back to the wild.

Did you know that they have helped 100 penguins who have been released back to the wild?

There are 4 penguins that are still at the Information Centre and 3 are permanent residents due to the injuries they have sustained which make it impossible to survive in the wild.

There were lots of children and adults being engaged and asking questions, eager to learn about these fascinating creatures of land and sea.
